

Swiss Re makes its knowledge available on the Internet

16 Apr 1999 CET Press Release

Swiss Re's relaunched Website broadens substantially the range of information and services on offer to clients, shareholders, investors, the media and other target groups. The Swiss Re, Swiss Re Life & Health and Swiss Re New Markets homepages have now been supplemented by one dedicated to Swiss Re Investors.

Swiss Re's Websites not only provide access to the global network of one of the world's leading reinsurers, but also represent an electronic pool of knowledge. Highlights include key data on the company, information about the management of capital and risk and lists of hyperlinks, as well as more than one hundred Swiss Re publications that are available in up to six languages and can be downloaded free of charge, including the sigma series of economic studies.

In addition to expanding the range of accessible information, the technically and visually innovative adaptation of Swiss Re's corporate design, combined with a clear branding profile, are central features of Swiss Re's new presence on the Internet.

For further information please contact:

Corporate Communications:

Carolyn Helbling, tel. +41 1 285 6332, fax +41 1 285 2635

Click here for more information about sigma publications and download of the full reports.