Zurich, 11 July 2006 – Swiss Re will reduce its global workforce by up to 2 000 positions through lay-offs and natural attrition.

The process to capture the efficiency gains will be implemented in two steps: In a first phase, Swiss Re has reduced in excess of 250 positions, particularly at management level. In a second phase, to be completed in the next four months, Swiss Re will finalise the composition of its operating units worldwide, leading to an overall workforce reduction of up to 2 000 positions. The job reductions, which will be completed by the end of 2007, will contribute to increasing Swiss Re's overall efficiency and ensuring the company's competitiveness.

Swiss Re will achieve the job reductions through a mix of lay-offs and natural attrition. Large office locations including Zurich, London, Armonk, Kansas City and Munich will be most affected. Swiss Re is committed to providing all employees affected with appropriate separation packages including professional career support.

Notes to editors

Forward-looking statements typically are identified by words or phrases such as "anticipate", "assume", "believe", "continue", "estimate", "expect", "foresee", "intend", "may increase" and "may fluctuate" and similar expressions or by future or conditional verbs such as "will", "should", "would" and "could". These forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors, which may cause Swiss Re's actual results, performance, achievements or prospects to be materially different from any future results, performance, achievements or prospects expressed or implied by such statements. Such factors include, among others:

- the impact of future investments, acquisitions or dispositions, and any delays, unexpected costs or other issues experienced in connection with any such transaction, including the ability to efficiently and effectively integrate the GE Insurance Solutions operations into our own;
- cyclical nature of the reinsurance industry;
- changes in general economic conditions, particularly in our core markets;
- uncertainties in estimating reserves;
- the performance of financial markets;
- expected changes in our investment results as a result of the changed composition of our investment assets or changes in our investment policy;
- the frequency, severity and development of insured claim events;
- acts of terrorism and acts of war;
- mortality and morbidity experience;
- policy renewal and lapse rates;
- changes in rating agency policies or practices;
- the lowering or withdrawal of one or more of the financial strength or credit ratings of one or more of our subsidiaries;
- changes in levels of interest rates;
- political risks in the countries in which we operate or in which we insure risks;
- extraordinary events affecting our clients, such as bankruptcies and liquidations;
- risks associated with implementing our business strategies;
- changes in currency exchange rates;
- changes in laws and regulations, including changes in accounting standards and taxation requirements; and
- changes in competitive pressures.

These factors are not exhaustive. We operate in a continually changing environment and new risks emerge continually. Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on forward-looking statements.
